LongHouse Reserve’s Executive Director Matko Tomicic Will Preview Its Exciting Plans for 20th Season, Opening Saturday, April 30

The League of Women Voters of the Hamptons invites the public to the second of a series of “Hot Topics Lunches” on Thursday, April 28, 12 noon at the American Hotel in Sag Harbor.

Guest speaker is Matko Tomicic, executive director of the LongHouse Reserve, the 16-acre sculpture garden and home of internationally-known textile designer Jack Lenor Larsen of East Hampton.

Mr. Tomicic will distribute copies of the LongHouse Reserve’s spring 2011 brochure and will preview the exciting plans for its 20th opening season on Saturday, April 30, 2-7 p.m., when thousands of daffodils should be in full bloom and new sculpture and exhibits will be on display. A “Rites of Spring” opening reception will also take place on April 30 from 5-7 p.m., with complimentary admission for members and $10 donation for non-members.

The League’s first “Hot Topics” luncheon in January featured internationally-acclaimed yogi Rodney Yee of Sag Harbor.

Organized by LWV Board member Terri Levin Davgin of East Hampton, “the series provides good food with socializing, stimulating conversation and an opportunity to hear from experts on a variety of intriguing and informative topics,” said Ms. Davgin.

RSVP’s are requested by April 26 to LWVHLunch@gmail.com, or to Ms. Davgin at 516-445-7365. The lunch, at $28, is payable at the door by cash, or by check made out to the League of Women Voters of the Hamptons.
